

Danna McKitrick's litigators are formidable opponents in the courtroom. But our presentation in court is only a small part of what makes our lawyers successful. Out-strategizing, consistently thinking outside-the-box, staying true to clients' objectives, and our deep-rooted understanding of the processes of litigation, make us effective advocates.

Understanding your unique needs lets us assemble the right team, tailoring representation just for you. Our litigators collaborate with our business transactional attorneys who share their perspectives on underlying issues and trends to assist in the development of litigation strategies. This solid team approach strengthens the quality of legal services you receive.

Commercial

We realize that most businesses view litigation as a last resort, and while certain businesses find themselves in frequent litigation, most prefer to avoid the courtroom. Either way, isn't it good to know you can rely on an effective team to represent you?
